Student Information Technology Training Program

Your local UW Colleges campus will be hiring and training one incoming freshman to work for two years in the Information Technology (IT) department. Here's your chance to gain valuable on-the-job training in the technology field as well as earn enough money to pay for your tuition and more!

Each campus will hire one full-time freshman to participate in this outstanding educational and job-training program.

Students, who complete the first year of the program including summer training and employment, academic year employment and the following summer employment, will also receive a $1,000 bonus for the second year of participation in the program, to be paid $500 at the beginning of the Fall and Spring semesters.
