I have had the pleasure of a long-term association with UW-Green Bay as an undergraduate, graduate student, and for the past four years as an instructor in the CCIHS program. Even though our high school is a considerable distance from UW-Green Bay, our CCIHS students have the opportunity to experience the academic quality and strength of UW-Green Bay on their familiar high school campus. The connection to UW-Green Bay for my students, their parents, and me as an adjunct provides depth to our school-wide writing program and inspires our younger students to achieve higher academic standards. The CCIHS partnership embodies UW-Green Bay's goal of connecting learning to life. We are grateful for the opportunity to be part of the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay community.

-Kelly Annette Lamkin, Adjunct Instructor

I think it is an amazing experience and would recommend it to anyone. Not only was I able to earn college credit while still in high school, I was able to experience a college class, something a lot of my peers have not done.

College Credit in High School

About the Program

The College Credit in High School program at UW-Green Bay offers credit courses within high schools, providing opportunities for academically qualified high school students to engage in a special college-level learning experience. Taught by qualified and approved high school faculty, students pursue rigorous advanced subjects, earning credit upon successful completion.

The College Credit in High School program demonstrates UW-Green Bay's commitment to maintaining access and affordability in higher education and advancing the Wisconsin Idea through collaborative efforts with K-12 schools.

Benefits

- Get a head start on your college career with introductory courses that will likely transfer to most colleges and universities
- Experience college rigor while in high school and develop skills for college success
- Explore new areas of interest

Adjunct Instructors

High school faculty who teach UW-Green Bay courses at participating high schools must have at least a Master's degree in the discipline in which the course is offered and have the specific approval of the appropriate university academic department. An exception may be made if the high school faculty member's Master's degree is in another related discipline.

Current List of Classes

- College Writing
- Expository Writing
- Fundamentals of Public Address
- Introduction to American Literature I & II
- Introduction to Film
- Introduction to Literature
- Principles of Chemistry

Additional courses added based on the needs of school districts and qualifications of the high school instructor.
