Student Employment Program at UW-Green Bay

UW-Green Bay employs over 1,000 students in over 1,500 positions across campus. The University pays almost 3 million dollars annually to support students in these roles. The University attempts to provide job opportunities that will complement a student's degree program and career pursuits and/or provide a positive work experience. Work experiences should allow personal growth. Student positions can be paid hourly, lump-sum, or stipend. Not all jobs require a Federal Work Study (FWS) award; however, almost all hourly positions on campus can utilize a FWS award. It is an advantage to hire students with FWS because of the subsidy provided by the Department of Education to pay earnings.

Regular Student Employment

Non-Work Study or regular employment is available for those who did not receive a FWS award. These positions are funded 100% by the individual department budgets.

Federal Work Study (FWS)

Students with FWS still receive one paycheck but are funded with 75% federal and 25% University matching funds, up to the student's total award. FWS is awarded to students as part of their financial aid package and is applied during the payroll process. Recipients are not assigned jobs; they must apply and be hired for a position.

Although many students qualify, FWS is not offered to all eligible students because of limited funding. The Financial Aid Office makes a conscious attempt to support the employment needs of all students and departments to the greatest extent possible. As a result, a waitlist is held each year. Students can contact the Financial Aid Office to have their name put on the list.

Positions funded through grants to faculty, departments, or agencies outside the University are subject to a review by the Controller's Office to determine eligibility to participate in the FWS program. Please contact the Student Employment Coordinator in the Financial Aid Office with questions.

Students must be enrolled for at least six credits to receive a FWS award. Student employees who have been awarded FWS may not work before the first day or beyond the last day of the semester in which the award was intended. Please check with the Student Employment Coordinator for clarification of your situation. In the spring, students who are enrolled for the following fall may request FWS for summer session whether or not they are enrolled in classes for summer session.

Eligibility Requirements

Students must be at least 16 years old and enrolled at an institute for higher education or high school to be eligible for student employment. There are two student eligibility periods: (1) academic year: Students must be enrolled for at least one credit. (2) summer session: Students must be enrolled for the summer or upcoming semester. During the academic year, students must be enrolled for at least one credit.

Students are employed on a priority basis, with UW-Green Bay students receiving first priority. Hiring priority should be observed according to the Levels listed below. Before Level II and Level III students are considered, positions must be posted for Level I students for a minimum of two weeks.

Level I

UW-Green Bay students, including new, transfer, and specials, registered for at least one course in the term they are expected to work or enrolled half-time for the subsequent academic term. Halftime enrollment for the academic term is defined by 6 credits for undergraduate and 5 credits for graduate.

Level II

Students enrolled at another UW school. Supervisors are responsible for obtaining verification* of the student's association with the school system.

Level III

Students enrolled at a non-UW accredited university, technical college, vocational/trade school, or high school. Supervisors are responsible for obtaining verification* of the student's association with the school system.

*NOTE: Examples of documents that verify a student's enrollment at a school are their class schedule for a current or future semester or a letter from the school confirming their enrollment. All documents must include school name, student's name, and the dates of enrollment.

Conditions of Employment

Student Employment Acknowledgment

Upon hire into any student help position, student employees will be required to complete a Student Employment Acknowledgment form. The Student Employment Acknowledgment form outlines that it is the student's responsibility to abide by the requirements under the UPS Operational Policy: GEN 20 and UW-Green Bay's Campus Procedures on ACA. These requirements include the hours limitations, informing supervisors if multiple positions are held, as well as the University's right to end student employment for any reason, including failure to adhere to the hours limit.

Student Work Hours Limitation

Departments should have reasonable expectations of the number of hours a student can work. Students' primary purpose to be on campus is to attend classes.

While classes are in session, it is generally recommended that students work less than 20 hours.

The UW-Green Bay Student Payroll Schedule will determine the maximum hours limit for each week. Students will generally be able to work up to a maximum of 25 hours per week during the academic year and a maximum of 40 hours per week during designated break periods. The hour's limitations include any and all positions (work study, regular, and lump-sum) at UW-Green Bay and UW-System schools. International students: Visa restrictions prohibit international students from working more than 20 hours per week while classes are in session. Students are permitted to work up to 40 hours per week during designated break periods.

Voluntary Services/Paid Employee

The Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, prohibits institutions from accepting voluntary services from any paid employee. Therefore, any student who is employed must be paid for all hours worked. Supervisors must not permit students to work beyond their allotment or to work before securing all forms and authorizing documents.

Rest Periods/Meal Break

While working an entire day (8 hours), students may be allowed a 15-minute paid rest period after working four hours or a 30-minute unpaid meal break.

Nepotism

UW-Green Bay does not prohibit the employment of family members or those with whom you have a close blood or equivalent relationship. However, no employer may recommend or participate in the decision to hire, retain, train, or promote any employee who is a member of his/her immediate family in order to avoid a conflict of interest.

If there is a chance that a conflict of interest can occur, another supervisor in the chain of command must perform the supervisory activities.

Student Appointments

Per the UPS Operational Policy: GEN 20, which outlines the University of Wisconsin System (UWS) provisions specific to student employment, all student workers should be paid on an hourly basis, and hours of service shall be tracked accordingly.

If a department wishes to have a student compensated on a lump-sum basis, the department must submit a justification to Human Resources detailing why the payment cannot be processed on an hourly basis. Requests for lump-sum payment must be submitted for review prior to hiring the student and having work completed.

Human Resources will review the request and will contact the department as to whether or not the request is approved. If the request is approved, the department will be required to track hours for work performed for the lump-sum payment. Hours must be submitted to payrollandbenefits@uwgb.edu by 10:00 a.m. on the Monday following the end of a pay period (per the payroll schedule).

Hourly Wage and Job Level Descriptions

The wage plan that follows establishes levels of jobs for student employees:

Basic, Intermediate, Advanced, and Special Wage. Questions concerning the appropriate level for a given job should be directed to Human Resources. The current minimum wage is $7.25 per hour.

Basic Level:

Range - $7.25 to $9.00 per hour

General Description: work done under close supervision; procedures are well established; employees are not usually required to make decisions which are not well defined in policies and/or procedures.

Intermediate Level:

Range - $8.25 to $10.00 per hour

General Description: work that requires, for a major portion of the time, some independent judgment and initiative; requires special knowledge, skills, or abilities; requires a major amount of heavy physical exertion; involves adverse hours or working conditions; and supervisory responsibilities for an activity of limited size.

Advanced Level:

Range - $9.00 to $20.00 per hour ($20.00 is the maximum pay for a student)

General Description: work that requires, for a major portion of the time, advanced specialized knowledge, skills, or abilities; involves supervisory responsibilities for large or complex activities, and usually involving a number of concurrent activities.

Special Wage Level:

Jobs that fall into this category are of an emergency or short-term basis, are accomplished immediately, and will last only a week or less. In such cases, it is permissible to pay a higher rate than normal to speed up completion of the work. Due to the competitive nature of summer employment, this level also permits a differential or higher wage rate in the summer than is paid during the academic year.

Pay Increases, Budget Changes, and Terminations

When there is a change to a working title, hourly wage rate, budget code, or a student appointment is to be ended, the change should be indicated on the Student Employment Acknowledgment form and submitted to Human Resources prior. Changes will become effective on the following biweekly pay cycle.

Job Postings and Hiring

Phoenix Recruitment Online (PRO) is our campus' preferred method of advertising open student help positions. The Student Employment Office is happy to add open positions to the PRO system. Employers may complete the online job description form at <http://www.uwgb.edu/student-employment/employers/opening.asp>, or send a job description to studentemployment@uwgb.edu.

Employers may request access to PRO by going to <https://www.myinterfase.com/uwgb/employer/> and selecting the "request access" button.

Refer to the student employment website for additional instructions on posting a job within the PRO system at www.uwgb.edu/student-employment/employers/other-posting-options.asp

Hire Process

Application Process

Once all applications have been received, each one should be reviewed. Using the duties and skill requirements of the position, screen the applicants and select the applicants you are interested in interviewing. Be sure to remove your posting from PRO to avoid additional applicants.

Interview

Contact the applicants and schedule a time for interviews that is convenient for the supervisor and the student. The purpose of this interview is to determine if the student would be successful in fulfilling the duties of the position. Explain the duties and expectations of the position. This time also allows the students to evaluate and make a decision on whether or not the position is right for them. Let the students ask questions.

Hiring Decision

It is the supervisor's responsibility to notify the students as soon as possible about the hiring decision. If the student is not hired, it is a courtesy to notify the students. For the chosen candidate, extend the offer of employment to the chosen candidate.

Employment Forms

Once the student accepts an offer of employment, it is imperative that the supervisor and the student complete all necessary employment forms and attach authorizing documents. Please go to the Human Resources website for all student employment forms and guidelines to ensure you are utilizing the current form. Review all forms to ensure that each is filled out correctly and completely with the appropriate signatures/dates.

All employment forms must be sent to the Human Resources/Payroll Office as soon as possible and prior to the student performing work. A delay in receiving the paperwork, incomplete paperwork, or paperwork needing correction may cause a delay in the student's entry into the payroll system and a delay in pay. Once the paperwork is received and reviewed by the Human Resources/Payroll Office, the student's job is created for HRS time reporting.

Supervisors should complete the appropriate form:

1. Student Employment Form: (attach copy of verifying document, if applicable): This form is required for hourly jobs only. Ensure that the job begin date on the form is correct.

OR

Student Lump-Sum Payment Authorization & Ad. : Prior authorization by Human Resources to pay as a lump sum is required before completing this form for non-hourly jobs.

2. Form I-9: The University is required by law to verify that new employees are authorized to work in the United States. Offer of employment is contingent upon verification of identity and work authorization, as required by the Immigration Reform and Control Act (1986). Employees must complete Section 1 of the Form I-9 no later than the first day of employment. The Form I-9 contains a list of acceptable documents that will need to be presented to establish identity and work authorization. Verification of the documents and completion of Section 2 by an authorized representative (supervisor) must be completed within three business days after beginning employment. The law prohibits us from continuing to employ an individual who has not provided appropriate documentation. Make and attach copies of the documents with the I-9 for submittal to Human Resources. For more information regarding the I-9, reference the Guidelines for I-9 Verification.

3. Criminal Background Check Request (if applicable): If the duties of the position warrants a background check, a background check must be completed prior to extending an offer of employment, or an offer can be made contingent upon background check results.

A new background check would be required if a student has had more than a year break in employment and is rehired into a position that would require a background check.

For more information, see the "Campus Policies" section of this handbook. For assistance with determining if the student will require a criminal background check, please refer to the Criminal Background Check Policy and Addendum that outlines duties/position that would require a background check.

Note: If a criminal background check is required, the appointment will not be entered until receipt of the background check and a review of the results. The background check can be initiated ahead of time by sending an email to Human Resources at hr@uwgb.edu with the student's name, email, and the budget code to charge. Human Resources will conduct the background check and notify the contact person of its completion.

Students should complete the forms below:

1. Employee Self-Identification Form and W-4 Withholding Form: The information on the Employee Self-Identification Form will be treated as confidential and will not be disclosed in response to a public records request. It will be used for affirmative action reporting and related University purposes. Although self-identification is voluntary, anyone choosing not to self-identify must indicate this on each page of the form.

The W-4 should contain the student's permanent home address (not their temporary or campus address), as this is the address where their W-2 will be sent.

2. Form I-9: Students should fill out Section 1 on this form. The University is required by law to verify all new employees' identities and authorizations to work in the United States. Offer of employment is contingent upon this verification, as required by the Immigration Reform and Control Act (1986). Employees must complete Section 1 of the Form I-9 no later than the first day of employment. The Form I-9 contains a list of acceptable documents that the employee will need to present to their supervisor to establish identity and work authorization within three days of their first day of employment. P.O. boxes are not acceptable. A physical address must be provided.

3. Authorization for Direct Deposit of Payroll: Students should document their routing and account numbers on this form. If unsure of the numbers, have the student attach a voided check.

4. Student Acknowledgment Acknowledgment: Outlines that it is the student's responsibility to abide by the requirements under the UPS Operational Policy: GEN 20 and UW-Green Bay's Campus Procedures on ACA.

5. Employee Confidentiality Agreement: All students who have access to student records, personnel, and/or personal information regarding students, faculty, staff, and the general public must read and sign. Disclosure of confidential information may result in termination of employment. (This form should be kept in their personnel file within the department.)

International Student Employees

Many international students may not have a social security card/number. A social security number is required for tax reporting purposes.

To obtain a social security card, students must have a letter from the employer indicating the title of the position, start date, and the employer contact information. Once this letter is obtained, the international student will also have to fill out a "Social Security Request Form" in the Office of International Education (OIE). In some cases, the OIE will also have to authorize the employment in the Student Exchange Visitor Immigration System. Once the student has both an employment letter and a letter from the OIE, they can apply for a social security card. They will need their passport, DS-2019 or 1-20, I-94 card, employment letter, and letter from the OIE.

International student employees will need to complete their resident status and Visa type on their W-4 form. Once the student is entered into HRS, an email will be sent to the student from Glacier (third-party vendor) to determine substantial presence and evaluate applicable tax treaties. The student will complete online forms in Glacier, print, and sign the forms. Completed forms and supporting documents should be brought to Human Resources.

Hiring Students Under the Age of 18

Students must be at least 16 years old to qualify for student employment. Students 16-17 years of age must have a work permit on file with the Human Resources Office. Work Permits are available at:

- Brown County Clerk's Office, 305 E. Walnut St., Green Bay, WI
- In many communities, work permits may also be obtained at the local high school.

To obtain a work permit, the minor or parent must visit the permit officer and bring the minor's birth certificate or other proof of age, social security card, Work Permit Hiring Statement from the employer, which includes an explanation of job duties, hours of work, and parent's consent, and a $10.00 permit fee. Statutes also require the employer to pay the permit fee. If reimbursed, the payment must be made no later than the employee's first paycheck.

Reimbursement procedures and additional information for supervisors and minor employees is located at Guidelines to Hire Employees under Age 18.

Student Rehire Process

Student jobs are set up for the current academic year only. To continue a student's employment for the next summer and/or academic year, supervisors will receive a spreadsheet via email at the end of the academic year listing all current student employees under their supervision. The supervisor will need to complete information for all students listed. Instructions are included with the email, and supervisors will have approximately two weeks to make their entries. Student jobs intended for rehire which are not included in this process must be submitted on a Student Employment Form.

Orientation, Training, and Supervising

A Hiring and Orientation Checklist is available to assist with new student employee searches and hires.

ORIENTATION/TRAINING

At the start of employment, supervisors should plan an orientation meeting with all student employees. Orientation should include:

1. Introduction to other staff members and a tour of the surroundings. Point out areas that the student will become familiar with in the course of working.
2. Description of the duties of the position and proper office procedures. Make arrangements and schedule specific training, if needed.
3. Provide this handbook and ask the student to review the information.
4. Go over student responsibilities and explain the campus policies, office policies, and work rules regarding:
 - a. Expectations of work performance (personal business, homework, disciplinary procedures)
 - b. Attendance and punctuality (working days/hours assigned, notifying supervisor of absences/lateness)
 - c. Use of property (telephone, mail, email/Internet, other University property)
 - d. Personal actions and appearance (use of alcoholic beverage/illegal drugs, appropriate dress, use of personal cell phone, courtesy in dealing with employees, students, and general public.)
5. Develop a work schedule based on student availability, work allotment, and employer's needs.
6. Provide the appropriate timekeeping guide for your student employee. Instruct your students how and when they will be paid. Provide them with the Student Bi-Weekly Payroll Schedule.

This schedule details the pay period dates and when they will be paid for hours worked. See "Timekeeping and Payment Methods" section of this handbook or more detail.

Supervising Student Employees

Employers must maintain ongoing and meaningful job supervision and clearly identify required tasks and encourage students to report back at the completion of required work for additional work. Studying, visiting, etc., should be discouraged by the supervisor. The success of a student employee is positively correlated with the care and time spent in the training program and continuing maintenance of supervision. It is the dual responsibility of the supervisor and student to ensure that the employment does not conflict or have a negative effect on the student's academic performance.

Evaluating Student Employees

All employees should periodically have a Performance Review to discuss strengths and weaknesses and possibly new goals or duties. A supervisor should also provide students the opportunity to share questions or concerns they may have about the job.

Graduating & Non-Returning Students

Graduating students must end their employment on the last day of the semester unless they are registered for the upcoming semester. Students not returning will also need to end employment on the last day of the semester. Contact Human Resources with any questions.

Monitoring Work Study Awards

Students cannot earn their Work Study money before the first day or after the last day of the semester. Supervisors must monitor the student's work study balance at all times. Earnings in excess of a student's Work Study award will be charged at a 100% rate to the department's budget. It is the supervisor's responsibility to also monitor the earnings of regular employees who are limited to a certain amount. It is the dual responsibility of the supervisor and student to ensure that these limits are not exceeded. Over-earnings can result in a financial aid adjustment.

Timekeeping and Payment Methods

Pay Period

A pay period is two weeks in duration. The Student Bi-Weekly Payroll Schedule is available online. Please refer to this schedule, as it provides pay period dates, payment dates, and other deadlines. If the supervisor does not approve time, payment will not be processed.

HRS Timekeeping Instructions

HRS is the timekeeping and payroll system. It has two types of timekeeping entries, Webclock and Timesheet, which are accessed by student employees through the "My UW System Portal".

- HRS Student Webclock: This type of entry should be utilized for those employees who are able to punch "in" and "out" each work day.
- HRS Student Timesheet Entry: This type of time entry can be used when students are not able to immediately enter their time in HRS. This entry allows students to login during the biweekly pay period and enter their "in" and "out" times for any given day during the payroll period.
- Off-Campus HRS Student Timesheet (documentation for students who work off campus)

Students using the timesheet method of time keeping cannot "bank" hours. They must record the hours they work on the exact day they are worked. Banking hours is not an acceptable campus employment practice.

HRS Rounding of Hours

Time entry in HRS rounds each punch to the nearest 7.5 minutes or elapsed quantity to the nearest quarter hour, based on the total hours and minutes reported in a shift.

HRS Rounding of Hours
Minutes	Hundredths
0.0-7.5	0.0
7.5-22.5	.25
22.5-37.5	0.5
37.5-52.5	0.75
52.5-60	1.0

Supervisor Resources

It is recommended that supervisors review and approve student timesheets weekly for the previous week. Supervisors are required to approve their student's time no later than Monday at noon following the end of a pay period. Hours not approved will not be processed for payment. Refer to the following documents for more detailed information on using the timekeeping system:

- HRS Student Supervisor - Approve Time
- HRS Student Supervisor - Enter Time

It is the supervisor's responsibility to ensure the accuracy of the student's timesheet before approving it in HRS. Inaccurate timesheets may result in delayed payment, and knowingly falsified timesheets may result in discipline and/or termination of employment.

Payment Method

Direct deposit is the method of payment that is used by the University of Wisconsin System. Payments to students using this method will be directly deposited at the financial institution of their choice. Additional information on direct deposit can be found on the Payroll page of the Human Resources website. Students are not required to have FWS earnings direct deposited, however, it is strongly recommended for convenience, safety, and security.

The student can expect their first payment 3-4 weeks after they start working. Please refer to the Student Bi-weekly Payroll Schedule for dates worked and corresponding pay dates. If the student receives a paper paycheck, this check can be picked up in the Human Resources/Payroll Office or sent to the Bursar to be picked up. If a paycheck is lost, contact the Payroll Office. Payroll staff will request a stop payment on the lost paycheck, and a new paycheck will be issued within two to three weeks.

Electronic Earnings Statements

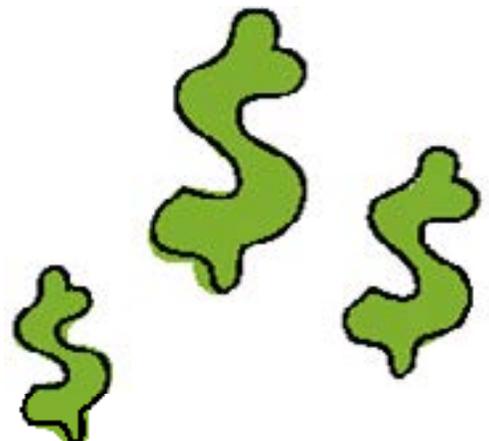

Earning statements serve as a paycheck stub and provide information about the student's payment. Earning statements can be accessed via the My UW System portal. Earnings statements will be ready to view the day before the pay date according to the payroll schedule.

FICA Exemption

To be eligible for the exemption from FICA withholding (Federal Insurance Contributions Act tax also known as the Social Security tax), UW-System students must be degree-seeking and maintain at least a half-time status as a student during the school year. The minimum credit load per semester is 6 credits for undergraduates and 5 credits for graduates. During the summer sessions, the minimum credit load is 3 credits for both undergraduates and graduates while in session.

Students may be subject to FICA if there is a 5-week break between sessions or academic term. Student employees attending other UW-System schools must provide proof of their current credit load to the Human Resources/Payroll Office for the FICA exemption. If they fall below the minimum credits, they may remain on the student payroll as long as they are a student, however, FICA will be withheld from their paycheck, along with any federal and state taxes. Student employees from non-UW-System schools are not eligible for the FICA exemption.

Student Rights and Responsibilities

Students have the right to:

- Know what is expected of them at a position, including, but not limited to, knowing who to report to, what tasks to perform and how to perform them, if the assigned tasks are being performed adequately, how to improve performance, and what procedures to follow.
- Be paid for all hours worked. Payments are made every two weeks. Students are not eligible for sick, vacation, or holiday pay or other fringe benefits.
- Have work hours that will not conflict with an academic schedule or responsibilities. However, students have the responsibility to work the hours agreed upon with a supervisor on a consistent basis.

Students have the responsibility to:

- Complete all required paperwork and have possession of a valid Social Security number. Students cannot begin work until the I-9, W-4, Direct Deposit, and Student Employment Acknowledgment forms are completed.
- Report to work for scheduled hours. They have the responsibility to promptly inform supervisors if unable to work scheduled hours for any reason.
- Accurately log time in and out of HRS. Record the hours worked on the exact day they are worked. Banking hours is not an acceptable campus employment practice.
- Follow rules set by the department. This may include dress code, confidentiality, behavior, and public image.
- Follow all policies as defined in this handbook.
- Report all accidents to your immediate supervisor or the supervisory person in charge at the time. Please review the Worker's Compensation provision section.

Students are "at will" employees. This means that either party, student and/or employer, have the right to terminate employment at any time. It is courteous to give proper notice of termination to the employer, usually defined as two weeks' notice.

The Student Employment Office is here to listen and intercede if necessary, however, the supervisor and student must first attempt to work out any problems that may arise.

Student Employee Appreciation

Each spring, the Student Employment Office celebrates all students who work while attending college. During National Student Employment Week, events are scheduled each of the days, with special treats and giveaways for the students. The week is typically scheduled the second full week of April.

Student Employee of the Year Award (SEOTY)

Sponsored by the National Student Employment Association, this award begins at the campus level. Supervisors are invited to nominate outstanding student employees. All nominations are reviewed, and each student is honored during a ceremony that takes place during National Student Employment Week on campus. At this ceremony, one student is named the honor of being UW-Green Bay's Student Employee of the Year. Winners are then submitted to state, regional, and subsequently, national competitions.

Eligibility Requirements

All UW-Green Bay undergraduate and graduate student employees, FWS and regular, are eligible for consideration. To be considered an eligible employee, students must be paid via the UW payroll system for work completed at UW-Green Bay. Graduate students must be performing student employee jobs to be eligible. (The following positions cannot be considered: Resident Advisors, Graduate Assistants, or Teaching Assistants.)

Students must have worked, or be anticipated to work, a minimum of six months part-time (or three months full-time), during the selection period, which is from June through May.

Awards

Each nominee is presented with a certificate of congratulations from UW-Green Bay. Two runners-up are presented with a small gift certificate to spend on campus, and the winner will have their name engraved on a plaque, receive a gift certificate, and receive a letter of congratulations from the Midwest Association of Student Employment Administrators (MASEA).

State winners receive a certificate and check for $75.00

MASEA regional winner receives a plaque and check for $150.00

National winner is presented with a scholarship in an undisclosed amount

Disciplinary System

Student employment is a part of the educational experience here at UW-Green Bay. Supervisors are expected to discuss departmental expectations and policies with their students.

Behaviors that Should be Addressed

(This list may be modified to suit department needs)

- Excessive tardiness or absenteeism
- Absent without legitimate excuse
- Carelessness or lack of attention resulting in injury to property, person, or public appearance
- Inappropriate workplace conduct

For serious offenses that you feel warrant immediate dismissal, contact the Student Employment Coordinator at 920-465-2556.

Other Reasons for Dismissal

If possible, the supervisor should give the student a two-week notice if one of these situations arises:

- Completion of Project or Assigned Task
- Lack of Departmental Budget Funds

Grievance Procedure

A “grievance” is a complaint brought by a student employee who feels that they have been unfairly treated as it relates to their employment. The student may make an appointment to see the Student Employment Coordinator to discuss the facts of the grievance. The Student Employment Coordinator has the authority to informally resolve the issues between the student and employer. If the situation warrants a formal grievance, the Student Employment Coordinator will ensure that the formal grievance procedure is followed.
