Wanted: Library Research Assignments!

Do you have a class assignment that requires or encourages library research? The librarians who staff the Cofrin Library Research Desk would love to hear about it! Every semester the research desk staff helps hundreds of students navigate the research path. Help us help them by sending a copy of your library research assignments to the research desk at refdesk@uwgb.edu.

Have a student who is struggling with library research? Be sure to refer them to the library’s research help services: http://libguides.uwgb.edu/ResearchHelp.

Showing a Video in Class?

If you plan on using a Cofrin Library video to show in class, we suggest that you put it on Course Reserves for the semester. Since our DVD collection can be checked out by the campus community, we suggest placing these videos on Course Reserves for 3 hours to limit others from using the items too long. However, when you need to check out the item, you will be able to do so for the full 14 day loan period. Also, we suggest coming to the library at least several days in advance to ensure that you have the movie for your needed class period. If you have any questions about Course Reserves, please contact Lindsay Hahn at hahnl@uwgb.edu or 920-465-2540.

My wife and I got married right off the shore of Booth Island in Antarctica on a National Geographic trip. That was pretty amazing! (The wedding was ceremonial, not legally binding as there are a LOT of hoops you have to jump through to do it legally.)

I have always, always wanted to visit Bhutan for as long as I can remember.

What is your first clear memory of visiting a library?
My mom used to take my brother and me to the Brown County Library for story time. It was fantastic. And then, we found the Frog and Toad books by Arnold Lobel and we made her read them to us at least 100 times each.
