Leading With Emotional Intelligence (EQ)

October 14, 2015
8:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m.
Advance Business & Manufacturing Center
Green Bay, WI

EQ is considered by many leading business scholars to be the biggest organizational competency required to compete in the 21st century. Participants will be introduced to the theory and practice of EQ including your own personal assessment.

This one-day workshop provides an introduction to the science and practice of emotional intelligence. EQ is for everyone in business, regardless of managerial responsibility.

- You will receive your custom, 21 page EQ report with your full profile.
- You will learn the history of the field of EQ, and why it has emerged as a critical competency in today’s business environment.
- You will be introduced to the model of EQ, and learn a process to deliberately enhance and increase EQ.
- You will learn how to work with your own strengths and development areas to continuously improve your life satisfaction and outcomes.
- You will receive tips for coaching EQ in others.
- You will enjoy the highly interactive workshop format and atmosphere of fun, laughter and safety.

Instructor — Susan Dutton

Susan is a sociologist and a specialist in emotional intelligence. She is the founder of Smart Relationships, LLC, a consulting firm that provides EQ assessment and coaching to businesses and individuals seeking to improve their quality of life and effectiveness.

With a background that includes successful careers in Silicon Valley and as a not-for-profit executive, Susan brings a wealth of leadership knowledge and practice to her work as an EQ Coach. Having lived overseas for a decade, she also brings a broad perspective to human affairs.
