

Broken Dreams, November 2, 2004
color photograph

Tammy Resulta

I took this photo after they voted (they had children's booths at my local center). This life's experience was how the end result is not always anticipated but keep your heart open to the goodness life has to offer. Oh, and Kerry did win...Wisconsin.

Tammy's passion in life is photography. Her fuel in life is her children. She enjoys viewing the world through their eyes.