Happy Holidays!

The end of the semester is drawing to a close. There is only one more week left of classes and then finals begin! We all know what the end of the semester brings: rushing to meet homework and Electronic Portfolio deadlines, studying like crazy for finals, and finalizing group presentations and projects. With all of these things to worry about, there doesn't seem to be enough time to do the things that you really want to do... like attending the final Student WEA meeting of the semester! But trust me; I think you can find the time to squeeze in our last exciting meeting. ☺ Our meeting this week is titled "Concept-Based Learning Through Literacy." It details the combination of social studies and English content and curriculum through primary document research. The purpose is to assist students in learning from primary sources, while building both their reading and writing competency. It will be presented by the Student WEA Co-President, Corey Livieri, along with Nick Schwei and Rachel Gerth. We hope that you will join us!
