MESSAGE FROM THE CHANCELLOR

Dear Graduate,

Today, we celebrate you! We celebrate your accomplishments, your perseverance and your determination and persistence to complete your degree. Congratulations!

I am thrilled to be sharing this significant occasion with you. You worked tirelessly to balance your commitment to work, friends and family with your studies, and overcome challenges while reaching your goals.

This is how you RISE!

I have the greatest admiration for you. And I applaud the members of the UW-Green Bay faculty and staff who supported you to this end. Your determined efforts have prepared you to be a leader in your respective fields and the experience of working with others toward a common goal puts you in a position to make positive change in your community.

You are our problem-solvers, our innovators, our culture of creative thinkers, poised to solve the problems of our future.

My greatest hope is that you leave not only with a degree, but an understanding of the obligation that comes with it... to value those around you, to see the world through many lenses, and to lead for the greater good, in whatever path you choose. While this degree marks a significant milestone in your education, I urge you to continue learning your entire life.

Remember, there is tremendous responsibility that comes with your degree and great potential to make a difference. I hope you will realize that full potential and join the 50,000-plus Phoenix alumni who are making a positive impact in their communities.

It is an honor for me to serve this great University and to be with you to celebrate this important milestone in your life!

With deep appreciation,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Michael Alexander". The signature is fluid and cursive, written in a professional style.

Michael Alexander, Chancellor
University of Wisconsin-Green Bay

ACADEMIC RITUAL AND ATTIRE

The procedure followed for awarding of degrees at most American universities is based on a practice developed at the University of Paris almost 800 years ago. In those days, the Bishop of Paris, like every other bishop, was responsible for educational matters. As the new university developed, he naturally claimed authority over curriculum and degree granting. His authority however was disputed by teachers who asserted only they could judge students' qualifications.

A threatened impasse was resolved by a compromise under which the teachers judged the merits of the students and then recommended them to the bishop for their degrees. You see a secularized version with the Vice Chancellor, as representative of the faculty, certifying the students as qualified. The Chancellor, as representative of the Regents, who have replaced the bishop as the governing authority, then authorizes the awarding of degrees.

The caps and gowns worn by graduates and faculty are based on costumes used in universities of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries, particularly at Oxford and Cambridge in England. The academic dress has been used in the United States from colonial times and was standardized by Intercollegiate Code in 1895. The black gowns worn by the associate, bachelor's, master's and doctoral degree holders differ in design and ornamentation, particularly in the sleeves. The cap is black mortarboard with the tassel worn over the left front quadrant. Undergraduate candidates shift their tassel from right to left at the time their degrees are conferred.

Hoods symbolize the master's and doctoral degrees, with the colors representing the field of study and the awarding institution. Graduates may wear regalia in recognition of academic status and honor society memberships.

THE MEANING OF HONORS

The use of Latin terms reflects the medieval origins of academic ceremony: cum laude indicates distinction; magna cum laude, great distinction; summa cum laude, highest distinction.

At UW-Green Bay, students achieve a 3.5 to 3.749 grade point average (on a 4.0 scale) to graduate cum laude. Magna cum laude honors are awarded to students who achieve a cumulative average of 3.75 to 3.849. For highest honors — summa cum laude — students must average 3.85 or higher; or a 3.75 to 3.849 plus eligibility for and successful completion of an honors-in-the-major project. To qualify for honors, students must complete 48 credits in residence.

Some majors offer special distinction honors in the major. For this distinction, students must achieve a 3.5 or higher grade point average on all courses required for their major, and a 3.75 grade point in all junior-senior level major courses required, and complete an honors-in-the-major project.

Students graduating with honors will be recognized as such with the following after their name:

- * Cum laude
-  Magna cum laude
-  Summa cum laude
- † Honors in the major
- + With Honors

GRADUATING CLASS SPEAKER

ADAN E. CORDOVA

The Foundation to Fearlessly Dream

It's 4:15 a.m. and Adan Cordova's day has already begun. In the pre-dawn stillness, while the rest of his family still sleeps, he silently hurries to catch a ride to be at work by six. Then, he puts in a twelve-hour day before returning home. These hours would probably be considered typical for the soon-to-be class of 2024 graduate in Human Biology with aspirations for medical school. But this was a snapshot of Cordova's day from more than 15 years ago, when he lived in his native Honduras working construction jobs. He recalls, "I did everything from mixing concrete to preparing foundations."

These days, Cordova is laying a different kind of foundation—a career in medicine. His primary goal to "provide for my family" remains the same decades later. But today, his dreams are transformative.

To reach this goal, his next step is preparing for the MCAT (Medical College Admission Test)—a key component of medical school applications for anyone who aspires to attend medical school. Surprisingly, Cordova does not clearly remember any aspirations to attend medical school in his youth when basic survival was the primary goal. "Life in Honduras was tough," he says plainly.

But it was when still living in Honduras that Cordova became a father. He put all his dreams aside and focused on providing for his son's needs.

In 2012, the possibility that his dream could become reality surfaced with an invitation from his father to join him in America. Factory and construction jobs were plentiful. The pay was good and money could be sent home. It was the American dream – his father's dream - but not Cordova's dream.

Living and working in Green Bay was the chance for a new beginning. Despite a robust network of friends and family, the job opportunities were confined to manual labor. Still, his mother's perseverance back in Honduras inspired him. "I desired more than factory work," he confesses. "My mother had at one time balanced her family obligations and higher education," Cordova recalls. "I saw her working at home to take care of us and then go to university, to earn her bachelor's degree in Economics. I want to do that. So, I have that simple model of my mother."

Earning money to provide additional income to his family in both Green Bay and Honduras wasn't a problem, but his dreams were slipping away. Undeterred, he began with an English language course at Northeast Wisconsin Technical College, which led to a nursing assistant certificate. However, his ultimate aspirations to become a doctor were shadowed by self-doubt. "I was really afraid [I was] not going to make it," Cordova admits, "Because I didn't feel smart."

Yet, he mustered enough courage to enroll at UW-Green Bay and declared his major in Human Biology. It was in Genetics class, thanks to the encouragement of Associate Professor Uwe Pott, that convinced Cordova he had the DNA to become a doctor.

Cordova recalls the moment Professor Pott helped him to see himself as a medical student. "He kept telling me, 'How can you believe that you will not do well? You are in the lab. You're doing the experiments and writing lab reports. So yeah, you are being a scientist!'"

"Adan is an exemplary student," says Pott. "From the outset, it was clear he was committed to excellence." Looking forward, Adan plans to prepare for the MCAT during a gap year, then attend The Medical School of Wisconsin in Green Bay.

As Cordova sets his sights on pediatric psychiatry, he envisions a career that will not only provide for his family, but also give back to the community. All built on a basic foundation of care and support from a family, that spanned separate hemispheres, instilled in him. "When I see me myself as a doctor working—I'll be feeling that I did something good."

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Christopher Caldwell President of the College of Menominee Nation

Christopher Caldwell is an enrolled member of the Menominee Indian Tribe of Wisconsin. He has led the College since February 2020, serving first as Interim President and officially installed by the Board of Directors in June 2021.

Caldwell is the fourth person to lead CMN. He has been in a range of positions at the College, including student, director, adjunct, and President. An alumnus of the College, Caldwell began his higher education here at CMN, earning his Associate's Degree in Sustainable Development. He holds a Bachelor's Degree in Natural Resources from the University of Wisconsin-Madison, a Master's Degree in Environmental Science and Policy from UW-Green Bay, and is currently a Ph.D. candidate in Environment and Resources from the UW-Madison Nelson Institute.

During his career, Caldwell has served in previous positions focused on sustainability, specifically within the forestry sector: Tribal Resources Director/Compliance, Enforcement Officer for the Menominee Indian Tribe, Forest Products Technician with the USDA Forest Service's Forest Products Laboratory in Madison, student/intern with the U.S. Department of Interior Bureau of Indian Affairs-NCCE, Timber Market/Forestry Technician with Menominee Tribal Enterprises and more recently as the Director of the Sustainable Development Institute at CMN.

UNIVERSITY of WISCONSIN
GREEN BAY

LAND ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

We at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay acknowledge the First Nations people who are the original inhabitants of the region. The Ho-Chunk Nation and the Menominee Nation are the original First People of Wisconsin and both Nations have ancient historical and spiritual connections to the land that our institution now resides upon. Today, Wisconsin is home to 12 First Nations communities including the Oneida Nation of Wisconsin, Forest County Potawatomi, Ojibwe Nation communities, Stockbridge-Munsee Community Band of Mohican Indians, and the Brothertown Indian Nation.

We acknowledge the First Nations Peoples of Wisconsin.

PHOENIX FIGHT SONG

Hail! To the Fighting Phoenix
Rise up and light the flame!
Green Bay is the home of Champions
We're gonna' win this game!
Hail! To the Fighting Phoenix
We're rising up to say
Fight! Fight! Fight! For a win tonight
The Champions from old Green Bay!

ALMA MATER

Let us rise above these waters,
Men and women of Green Bay.
Rise in knowledge,
Rise in wisdom,
Rise in friendship sealed today.
As the Phoenix rose from flame,
Let us rise and still proclaim,
That we pledge our Alma Mater,
And the memories of her name.

"Alma Mater" composed by Prof. Emeritus Lovell Ives with lyrics by former Prof. Peter Stambler
