

Playing Audio in a PDF

You may have to click through some security prompts in order to play the audio. It is recommended that you save a local copy of the pdf file, and play the audio on that local version. Here are the steps to save a copy and play audio in the pdf.

There are two ways to save a copy of the pdf.

1. Right click on the link and save target as. . .
2. Left click the link and open the pdf. Then in the pdf frame, click the save (disk) icon, as depicted below

- Once the pdf is saved, find the file on your local computer (e.g., on your desktop, if that is where you saved it), and open it.
- Click on an interactive component of the pdf (e.g., the vowel sounds depicted below). You may see a yellow JavaScript bar. Click the Options button, and enable JavaScript (you may see this bar a second time asking you to “trust the JavaScript”- trust it):
