An abundance of trees and green space are scattered about the UW-Green Bay campus with Phoenix Park being one large and frequently used area in particular.

The Phoenix Park is a protected area of land in the middle of campus where students are able to spend time outside and take part in outdoor recreational activities.

A fire pit, volleyball courts, and bag toss boards are available for student to use and offer fun ways to socialize while enjoying the outdoors.