

Green Tour

COFRIN MEMORIAL ARBORETUM

- The Cofrin Memorial Arboretum is a massive 290 acre natural area surrounding campus where Wisconsin native plants and wildlife are preserved and restored through the efforts of the Biodiversity Center and UW-Green Bay students and staff.
- The beautiful natural area includes a more than six mile long hiking trail, numerous ponds, and various observation points.
- A diverse collection of habitats can be found along the trail including forests, prairies, ponds, and creeks.
