Class meeting times are: Mondays, Thursdays, Fridays: 11:05-11:33; Tuesdays 11:39-1:17

Course Objectives:

- To attain proficiency in the French language in accordance with the National Standards.
- To become proficient in listening, reading, writing and speaking French, in preparation for university-level French courses and the AP French Language and Culture Exam.
- To be enlightened about the cultures of the francophone world.

French Programmatic Outcomes:

1. Speak standard French at an intermediate-mid level (or higher) as defined by ACTFL
2. Read non-technical prose at an intermediate level (or higher) as defined by ACTFL
3. Comprehend clearly articulated conversations on everyday topics in standard French at the ACTFL advanced level
4. Write about non-technical topics at an intermediate-high/advanced ACTFL level
5. Demonstrate knowledge of French and Francophone cultures
6. Have read great works of French and Francophone literature and have a sense of their place in literary history
7. Research literary and cultural topics and report findings
8. Obtain skills to help students qualify for professional work in various areas such as teaching, translating, and interpreting, positions in business appropriate to students in the language or be prepared to attend graduate school
9. Reflect on the social values of the cultures studied and draw reasoned comparisons to their own culture on important topics related to the cultures being studied

Expectations:

In order to be successful in this class, it is necessary to:

- Be respectful of your classmates, your teacher, and other people's property. Keep an open mind when learning about new cultures and peoples. Kindness matters!
- Speak French exclusively in class. Participation is expected.
- Be actively involved in all class activities: speaking, writing, listening, reading and discussing.
- Do homework well and have it ready for presentation at the start of the class period. Be prepared for class!
- Have all required materials with you each day. Make sure your chromebook is charged.
- Use electronic devices only with the teacher's permission. Do not record a person without their permission.

- Ask for help when you need it.
- No eating or drinking in class unless it is a part of a classroom activity. Bottled water is permitted. Eating during class is disruptive (noise, smell, messes) and leads to an ant problem.
- Keep your desk cleared of all materials not related to the study of French (i.e. books from other classes, notes). Phones must be left in your backpack or purse, never visible during class.
- Have integrity: do your own work, and do it well. Do not use translators to do your work for you! This is considered academic dishonesty, just like plagiarism. Absolutely No Google Translate! Word Reference.Com may be used when permitted to look up individual words.

Required class materials:

- Textbooks: Allons au-delà (Ladd) and AP French Preparing for the Language and Culture Examination (Ladd).
- Chromebook, fully charged
- Pen or pencil
- French V binder

Grading:

The UW Green Bay Grading Scale will be used for reporting grades to UW-Green Bay:

93-100%	A
88-92%	A/B
83-87%	B
78-82%	B/C
73-77%	C
68-72%	C/D
60-67%	D
59-0%	F

Students will also receive Badger High School grades as specified in the student handbook for each quarter, final, and semester. Quarter grades are based on a point system within the categories listed below. Most homework assignments are worth 5 points each, unless noted otherwise. Most quizzes are worth 10-30 points. Assessments are worth upwards of 30 points. Your grade is a result of your total points earned divided by the total points possible. These are the categories of the quarter grade:

- Interpersonal Mode (speaking and writing): 25%
- Interpretive Mode (listening, reading, and viewing): 25%
- Presentational Mode (writing and speaking): 25%
- Skills (homework practice, short quizzes, class participation): 25%

To calculate the semester grade, each quarter is worth 40%, and the semester final exam is worth 20% of the final grade.

Organization

This course is organized into six themes (units), as selected by the College Board for the AP Language and Culture course: Global Challenges; Science and Technology; Contemporary Life; Personal and Public Identities; Families and Communities; and Beauty and Aesthetics. Students are introduced to (or review) vocabulary and grammatical structures in context. Every 6-7 weeks, a new theme is introduced. Within that theme, students work on all aspects of communication: listening, speaking, reading and writing. Activities will include the three modes of communication: interpretive, interpersonal and presentational. Sometimes in lieu of a test for each theme, students are evaluated based on various writing and speaking assignments, which are graded according to the AP guidelines. The course is conducted entirely in French, and students are expected to participate daily in spoken and written French.

Daily/weekly activities:

- Students write 3-5 homework paragraphs or blogs analyzing a specific aspect of a theme. These paragraphs are graded for effort in using various vocabulary and grammatical structures.
- Students record their answers to a discussion question within a specific theme.
- Students find and read articles from Le Monde, Le Figaro, Les Clés de l'actualité, Phosphore or other periodicals to start a discussion.
- Students read passages from the Allons au-delà textbook
- Students participate in daily discussions in French.
- Students synthesize and analyze information gleaned from podcasts, songs, films, artwork and photos.
- Students synthesize and analyze information gleaned from newspaper and magazine articles and literary texts.
- Students take frequent verb, vocabulary, or grammar quizzes.
- Students complete grammar exercises.
- Students keep a vocabulary journal where they select important words they do not know, look up the definition, and write the definition and an example of the word used in context.
- Students complete sections from the AP French Preparing for the Language and Culture Examination text to practice for the AP French exam and to gain exposure to authentic francophone texts.

Assessment

- Written homework assignments, in which students are asked to expand on a topic discussed in class.
- Spoken homework assignments, in which students are asked to record comments about a topic discussed in class, such as a description of their favorite movie or what political issues are the most important to them.
- "Gathering" homework assignments, in which students are asked to find and bring in an article, song, hyperlink, youtube video, or podcast related to a topic being discussed in class.
- In-class compositions. Occasionally instead of a test, students write composition based on the current theme. They are graded using the AP writing guidelines.
- At home compositions. Throughout the semester students are asked to write about different topics, such as doing an explication de texte of a poem, or an analysis of a reading from Allons au-delà! They are graded using the AP writing guidelines.
- Oral presentations. For each theme, students are given different speaking assignments, such as presenting a speech for a presidential election when talking about politics or their analysis of a painting when studying art. They are graded using the AP speaking guidelines.

- Verb/structure/vocabulary quizzes. Particular attention is paid to verb tenses, negative expressions, relative pronouns, si clauses, comparatives/superlatives and prepositions.
- Unit tests with written and oral components for each theme.
- Participation. Students are graded daily to encourage them to speak as much as possible in class and to use French exclusively in the classroom.

Examples of Specific Teaching Strategies:

Every effort is being made to conduct the class exclusively in French. Students are asked to keep a journal of newly acquired vocabulary. All skills - listening, oral, writing and reading - are spread out during a typical week. Students are encouraged to seek additional resources that will enhance all skills, such as attending events at the Alliance française de Milwaukee, and watching French films on their own.

Listening comprehension

Students are exposed to movies with or without subtitles in order to enhance their listening comprehension skills. Music videos, CDs, movies, French news clips and podcasts are used in the classroom in order to enhance discussions.

Reading comprehension

Reading is a daily activity in the French classroom. Students read literature selections including excerpts, short stories, poems, and plays from a variety of francophone writers, including Antoine de St. Exupéry, Molière, Voltaire, Daudet, Tahar Ben Jelloun, Sartre, Éluard, and Ionesco. Students are also exposed to newspapers and magazines such as L'Express, Le Point, Le Figaro and Le Monde, both online and hardcopy versions.

Writing skills

Students in French V write full-length compositions with a time limit of 40 minutes once every two weeks, either in class or at home as homework. When corrected, errors are always coded (i.e. Inf (infinitif), PC (Passé composé), Fém (féminin) etc. and it is the responsibility of the students to correct their errors. All compositions must have transitional words (i.e. puis, ensuite, enfin...) in order to enhance the flow of the composition. In addition, essays shall include a required number of adverbs, adjectives, idiomatic expressions, and conjunctions and expressions that require the subjunctive. Students will rewrite their compositions in class after correcting their errors. Students will have no use of dictionaries or other notes after the first quarter of the school year for the in-class compositions.

Speaking skills

The French V course includes individual, partner and group activities. Students will record themselves doing descriptions of picture sequences and stories and Cultural Comparison presentational speaking; do video/movie projects; and discuss movies and debate different topics in class. Students are also encouraged to sing songs, and learn and recite fables and poems.
