Essential Questions to be answered in the course:

1. How does daily life look like in France and other francophone countries?
2. How do we describe our relationships with others?
3. What are some obligations we have to others and to our planet? How can we choose to be helpful?
4. What issues are important both here and in other countries?
5. What can we learn about our own language and culture from studying another, particularly as tourists?

Required Text:

Discovering French Today, by Valette and Valette (2013). Provided in class.

Classroom Expectations:

You are expected to come to class every day prepared. You must complete your assignments on time. Failure to do so means you will not be able to participate as much because you were unprepared. You must expect to do more independent learning as this is a college course. Try to find the answers yourself before going to the teacher for help. You must be proactive in using your on-line resources and textbook resources that are available to you. Remember you must achieve a B or better if you hope to receive retroactive credit so stay on task and keep your eye on the prize!

There will be daily homework and class preparation, including grammar and vocabulary exercises, reading and writing tasks, audio/video assignments, and other appropriate tasks.

9 chapter tests

One semester exam after Unit 4

One final oral interview with the instructor

One final exam

Evaluation

Summative assessments will occur after each unit . There will also be semester final exams.

Computer Translators: Use of a translator program is unacceptable and constitutes a grade of NE for the assignment. Using such a program constitutes plagiarism and will result in an academic misconduct investigation. This is evidence of your ability to compose in French.

Grading Scale:

A: 92% +

C: 72 -78%

AB: 89 - 91%

CD: 69 - 71%

B: 82 - 88%

D: 59-68%

BC: 79 -81%

F: Below 59%

Retroactive Credit: Please be aware that in order to receive retroactive credits, you will need a grade of B or higher in this class. If you receive between BC and a D you will receive only 3 credits for this class. If you have questions, please ask me.
