- 1. Call to Order. Speaker Vescio called the Senate meeting to order promptly at 3:00.
- 2. Approval of Minutes of Faculty Senate Meeting No. 1, September 12, 2012. Speaker Vescio asked for any comments or corrections to the minutes and one conscientious senator noted that the open forum had been mislabeled. With no further corrections, the minutes were declared approved.
- 3. Chancellor's Report. The Chancellor reported on enrollments that the overall FTE was up slightly although there was some concern about graduate students (questions and subsequent clarification revealed that the concern was with one particular graduate program in Education where an enrollment decrease was attributed to the effects of Act 10). He also reported that the Council of Trustee had had preliminary discussion of a possible capital campaign where one important aim would be scholarships. And he noted that he sensed a change in the working relationship between higher education and the state. The change is an improvement and the evidence includes a lack of budgetary cuts and lapses for this year.

4. Old Business.

a. Honors Program (second reading). Illene Cupit fielded quite a few questions before a motion was made on this item. Concerns were raised about: the title of the program, how the director is appointed, how diverse the selected students might be, the number of students selected, the process of student selection, the difference between honors as an achievement and honors as an ambition, the possible advantages for other students, the potential for non-first year students to enter the program, the lack of structure for the minor, the possibility of charging students for an extra experience. There was also a discussion about whether the Senate was supporting or initiating a program with this vote. Professor Cupit had responses to these concerns but in general she argued that details need to be worked out but Senate support is necessary in order to make the time investment on those details worthwhile. Eventually the discussion inched toward a motion, made by Senator Baulieu (Senator Jeffreys second) to support the program and some additional discussion clarified that the support was for a "University Scholars Honors Program" and it was contingent upon funding. Discussion continued with some alarming accusations ("difficult," "dysfunctional") on the Individualized Learning Committee's ability to approve programs before there was a call for a vote. The motion passed (22-8-0).

b. General Education Reform (second reading). Professor Lucy Arendt made her 67th presentation on general education reform (we keep very good records) by providing some clarification to concerns voiced at the previous Senate meeting: on skills (a handout to show how minimally constraining the skills are to the program's courses, as opposed to a previous Senate-rejected proposal for first year seminars), on transfer students (only students with fewer than 15 credits would be required to complete a first year seminar), on the balancing of life science and natural science in the breadth requirement (leave it to the GEC), and on general support in the face of special interest concerns (a review of the transparent and collaborative process along with the information that the reform recently got the support of the General Education Council and the Student Senate). The senators then reiterated their concerns: not enough science, not enough fine arts, the interdisciplinarity of capstone courses, Nursing's need for on-line courses, and quantitative competency. On that last concern clarification was needed since the written material specified three credits of quantitative competency and the oral presentation had assumed quantitative competency was a skill area to be incorporated into the program without a specific credit requirement. This apparently represented a shift in the position of the General Education Task Force over the summer that wasn't updated in the written material. There was discussion and eventually Senator Kubsch moved (Senator Ryan Martin second) adoption of the resolution supporting the reform as written (39 credits).

Senator Pott then offered an amendment (Senator Draney second) that the six credit breadth requirement in the sciences be one course in the physical sciences and one in the life sciences. The discussion focused less on the merits of the amendment than on whether the Senate was on a slippery slope (the actual metaphor was "opening the floodgates") toward more amendments. The amendment passed (29-1-0).

Discussion then briefly returned to the amended resolution which also passed (28-3-0).

5. New Business.

a. Resolution on the Flexible Degree #1. University Committee Chair Jeffreys introduced the resolution, read it in his most stentorian voice, and offered three arguments in its support (the process of implementing the proposed degree was too confusing and quick; its aim was just job training; and the whole effort was too political). He then moved adoption of the resolution with a second by Senator Austin. The Provost asked for clarification of the phrase "college experience" in the third whereas paragraph of the resolution and the Speaker replied on behalf of the University Committee that the phrase was meant to capture Mark Nook's distinction at the previous Senate meeting between college experience and gaining skills. The solution, without objection, was to add "rather than a list of competencies" after "college experience" in that paragraph. Several senators then wondered whether the proposed Flexible Degree was sufficiently articulated to support or reject, especially if future discussion may change it significantly. The solution here was to add, again without objection, the word "current" in the Resolved paragraph before "University of Wisconsin System proposal." The discussion that followed articulated many of the doubts senators had about the Flexible Degree proposal: quality control, the defining of competencies, the attack on the credit hour, and the paradigm shift "bending to the rationality of the business community." There were also moderating voices wanting an alternative proposal that might incorporate the positive elements of flexibility and access and perhaps something UW-Green Bay could do on its own. Faculty Rep Steve Meyer reported on the reps' "complete disbelief" of the timeline for implementation they had heard. Heba Mohammad reported that student government had raised a number of concerns about the proposal. The resolution disapproving of the proposal passed (29-1-0). The Chancellor after the vote expressed his appreciation of the debate and said he could support the decision of the Faculty.

b. Resolution on the Flexible Degree #2. UC Chair Jeffreys read the resolution and voiced his opposition to it. The discussion extended the ideas presented in the previous resolution about the nature of competency based education, on-line education, and extending what we already do without the involvement of Extension. With time running out, the Speaker deftly called for a motion to suspend the rules and extend the meeting for 15 minutes. He got such a motion from Senator Austin. The non-debatable motion required a two-thirds majority and failed (18-10-0). Now with some sense of urgency Senator White moved adoption of the resolution (Senator Mokren second) and with two quick comments on either side the motion was approved (21-8-0).

The remaining business of the Senate was suspended as the clock automatically adjourned the meeting at 5:00 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Clifford Abbott, Secretary of the Faculty and Academic Staff.

Proposal to Change Charge of Committee on Workload and Compensation

The proposal is to add the boldface items to the charge below:

- 1. The Joint Committee on Workload and Compensation (CWC) shall be composed of six members. The Academic Staff Committee (ASC) shall appoint three Academic Staff representatives, and the University Committee shall appoint three tenured faculty representatives: one from the College of Professional Studies, one from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, and one at-large, subject to the condition that at least one of the three members shall also be a member of the Graduate Faculty. These members shall serve three year terms (eventually, but not initially, to be staggered terms). In addition, the Director of Institutional Research, one representative from the ASC, one representative from the Classified Staff Advisory Council (CSAC), and one from the UC shall serve as ex officio (non-voting) members of the CWC, and shall each serve one year terms, or be re-appointed annually for the duration of their service on the ASC, CSAC, or UC.
- 2. The chair of said committee shall attend a meeting of the UC and the ASC at least once per semester to update them and report on plans and progress.
- 3. The CWC is charged with both reporting and action responsibilities:
 - a. In light of prevailing fiscal conditions, the committee is charged with:
 - I. identifying the various existing and potential components of workload and forms of compensation for faculty and academic staff,
 - II. identifying areas of concern and stress among personnel relating to workload and compensation, and
 - III. formulating options for remedying perceived workload and compensation shortcomings, dysfunctional procedures, or inequities on this campus.

Rather than creating formal reports, the committee is asked to simply advise the UC and the ASC on an ongoing basis (per item 2, above).

b. On an ongoing basis, and at least once per semester, the committee is asked to present proposals (relating to 3a) to the Academic Staff Committee and the Faculty Senate for action.

Proposal to Change Code on Academic Affairs Council Functions

The intent of this change is to remove the duplication created last year when the Senate gave the Graduate Studies Council authority over courses and curriculum at the graduate level. The intent of that change was to make the GSC parallel to the Academic Affairs Council in approving courses and curricular changes. Authority was added to the GSC but not removed from the AAC. This proposal removes references to graduate courses and curriculum in the Code section on the AAC.

54.03 Functions of the Councils

A. Academic Affairs Council

- 1. Upon request of the appropriate Dean(s), the Academic Affairs Council shall approve or disapprove of all new programs or on modification to existing programs (majors and/or minors), and on all new credit courses or modifications to existing credit courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.
- 2. The Academic Affairs Council shall have the responsibility and authority for review of all credit courses and all academic programs at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Its official response, including its decision, shall be forwarded to the Faculty Senate through the University Committee. The Faculty Senate will publish all curricular decisions made by the Academic Affairs Council in the minutes of its monthly meetings and forward them along with copies of all official Academic Affairs Council correspondence to the Provost/Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs.

In a case where the Academic Affairs Council does not approve a new course or program, the initiator of that new course or program may ask the Academic Affairs Council for reconsideration of the decision, providing new arguments or supplementary evidence in support of the claim or making appropriate modifications in the proposal to meet the Academic Affairs Council's published objections. If this initial appeal fails to produce a satisfactory conclusion in the view of the initiator, a second appeal to the University Committee is possible. In such cases the University Committee may investigate the appeal themselves or establish an ad hoc committee to do so. If the University Committee chooses to overturn the second no approval decision, the results of that deliberation will be reported to the Senate, published in the Senate minutes and forwarded to the Provost/Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs.

- 3. The Academic Affairs Council shall have the responsibility for examining the interrelationships among program areas in the University and for overseeing for the faculty the total academic plan and its various programs and components. This examining and overseeing function shall include, but not be limited to, the reviewing of course titles and content for duplication, and the monitoring of records pertaining to enrollments in lower division courses, upper division courses, the graduate program, and career and adult education courses. The final decision of the Council shall be forwarded to the Faculty Senate through the University Committee. The Faculty Senate will publish all curricular decisions of the Academic Affairs Council in the minutes of its monthly meetings and forward them along with copies of all official Academic Affairs Council correspondence to the Provost/Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs.
- 4. On its own initiative, or upon request of the University Committee, the Academic Affairs Council may advise the Faculty Senate about issues of educational policy and implementation that fall within the jurisdiction of the Faculty.
- 5. The Academic Affairs Council shall annually provide the Secretary of the Faculty and Academic Staff, for inclusion in the Faculty Governance Handbook, a current list of: 1) Interdisciplinary Units and 2) approved academic programs (including majors, minors, emphases, graduate programs, and certificate programs).
