MESSAGE FROM THE CHANCELLOR

Dear Graduate,

Today, we celebrate your remarkable accomplishments, your perseverance, your determination, and the effort it took to see this journey through to the end. Congratulations!

Reaching this milestone did not happen in isolation. Along the way, you balanced countless responsibilities including work, family, friendships, and you pushed through challenges that tested your resolve.

I hold deep admiration for what you have achieved, and I am grateful for the faculty and staff of UW-Green Bay who walked alongside you on this journey. Together, those experiences have prepared you not just to succeed, but to lead by building real connections, approaching problems with curiosity, and thinking creatively about what comes next.

My greatest hope is that you leave not only with a degree but with a profound understanding of the responsibility that comes with it, to value those around you, to see the world through many lenses, and to lead for the greater good, in whatever path you choose. While this degree marks a significant milestone in your education, I urge you to continue learning throughout your entire life so you can make a positive impact wherever your path leads.

Each of you has the potential to make a meaningful difference. I hope you recognize that potential and carry it forward as part of our community of more than 50,000 Phoenix alumni who are contributing to their families, workplaces, and communities.

Now and always, you are a Phoenix. You move forward with confidence. You take responsibility for shaping your future. You commit to learning, to collaboration, and to creating spaces where others can thrive. And you value the journey and the people who share it with you.

You are BUILT to RISE!

It is an honor to serve this University and to celebrate this important moment in your life.

With deep appreciation,

ACADEMIC RITUAL AND ATTIRE

The procedure followed for awarding of degrees at most American universities is based on a practice developed at the University of Paris almost 800 years ago. In those days, the Bishop of Paris, like every other bishop, was responsible for educational matters. As the new university developed, he naturally claimed authority over curriculum and degree granting. His authority however was disputed by teachers who asserted only they could judge students' qualifications.

A threatened impasse was resolved by a compromise under which the teachers judged the merits of the students and then recommended them to the bishop for their degrees. You see a secularized version with the Vice Chancellor, as representative of the faculty, certifying the students as qualified. The Chancellor, as representative of the Regents, who have replaced the bishop as the governing authority, then authorizes the awarding of degrees.

The caps and gowns worn by graduates and faculty are based on costumes used in universities of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries, particularly at Oxford and Cambridge in England. The academic dress has been used in the United States from colonial times and was standardized by Intercollegiate Code in 1895. The black gowns worn by the associate, bachelor's, master's and doctoral degree holders differ in design and ornamentation, particularly in the sleeves. The cap is black mortarboard with the tassel worn over the left front quadrant. Undergraduate candidates shift their tassel from right to left at the time their degrees are conferred.

Hoods symbolize the master's and doctoral degrees, with the colors representing the field of study and the awarding institution. Graduates may wear regalia in recognition of academic status and honor society memberships.

UW-GREEN BAY

Chancellor's Medallion

The use of Latin terms reflects the medieval origins of academic ceremony: cum laude indicates distinction; magna cum laude, great distinction; summa cum laude, highest distinction.

At UW-Green Bay, students achieve a 3.5 to 3.749 grade point average (on a 4.0 scale) to graduate cum laude. Magna cum laude honors are awarded to students who achieve a cumulative average of 3.75 to 3.849. For highest honors — summa cum laude — students must average 3.85 or higher; or a 3.75 to 3.849 plus eligibility for and successful completion of an honors-in-the-major project. To qualify for honors, students must complete 48 credits in residence.

Some majors offer special distinction honors in the major. For this distinction, students must achieve a 3.5 or higher grade point average on all courses required for their major, and a 3.75 grade point in all junior-senior level major courses required, and complete an honors-in-the-major project.

Students graduating with honors will be recognized as such with the following after their name:

- * Cum laude
-  Magna cum laude
-  Summa cum laude
- + Honors in the major
- # With Honors

REYNA BARSKE

Numbers Smart, People Strong

Reyna Barske has a talent for numbers. Not just working with them but paying attention to what they reveal. “The numbers are always coming from somewhere,” she said. “There’s always a story behind them.”

That instinct took shape early in her life. Barske grew up in Wind Lake, Wisconsin, where she lost her mother at a young age. Later, she moved to Waterford with her father and stepmother, Kristi Davies, who became an important force in her life.

“After my mom passed away, I was extremely lucky to have Kristi come into my life,” Barske said. “She was a wonderful role model and helped show me the importance of education.”

Leaving home was never something she approached lightly. “I learned pretty early that some decisions matter more than others,” she said.

Barske briefly considered nursing, drawn to its emphasis on care and service. “I was decent at it,” she remembers. “But it wasn’t where my interest really was.” Business kept pulling her back — particularly the logic, systems and patterns behind decision-making.

The transition to college was harder than expected. Her first semester at UW–Green Bay was marked by homesickness and finding her fit. She wasn’t sure she would stay. “I actually looked into transferring,” she said.

Encouraged by her family to try one more semester, Barske realized she needed to engage differently.

During her second semester, Barske joined the Student Ambassadors and was nominated for the Emerging Leadership Experience. “That was the turning point,” she remembers. “That’s when I decided I was going to go all in.”

As she found her footing on campus, Barske’s academic direction sharpened.

“Reyna understands that business decisions don’t happen in a vacuum,” said Maddie Wiles-Wagner, assistant director for the Student Engagement Center. “She’s equally comfortable working with data and thinking about how those decisions affect real people.”

With support from faculty, Barske declared a major in finance with a minor in human resource management.

"I remember a professor telling me, 'If you can do numbers and people, you'll go a long way,'" she said.

Beyond the classroom, Barske also served as a student representative on the Cofrin School of Business Advisory Board and helped launch Women in Business. Her leadership also extended into service. Barske was involved with UWGB's Pinky Swear Pack — first as treasurer, later as president — helping raise thousands of dollars for children with cancer.

Professionally, Barske brought that same willingness to speak up. After securing a sales support internship at Seura, she asked for more exposure to finance and accounting. "I really enjoyed working at Seura," she said. "I just wanted to learn more." That conversation led to a second internship in accounting — and ultimately a full-time offer as a staff accountant after grad

"I have a great supervisor and c and grow professionally," Barsk after graduation."

Looking back, gratitude is a throughline.

"I wasn't afraid to say, 'This looks off — can we talk about it?'" she said. "Asking questions matters."

"College isn't just paying for a degree," Barske said. "You're paying for the chance to figure out who you want to be."

EMBERS OF THE PHOENIX

“The Phoenix must burn to emerge.”
– Janet Fitch

At UW-Green Bay, the Phoenix is more than a symbol—it’s a legacy of transformation, resilience, and the power of rising stronger than before.

Students arrive with sparks—some barely glowing, others burning bright. Here, they are challenged, supported, and inspired. They rise through adversity, through discovery, through connection. And when they graduate, they don’t leave the fire behind—they carry it forward.

Graduates, you are now Alumni and the embers of this legacy. You are the quiet strength behind every rising student, the warmth in every mentorship, the light in every opportunity created.

You are proof that the Phoenix rises not just once—but again and again.

Alumni, your story matters. Your fire still burns. Whether you mentor a student, attend an event, share your journey, or support a scholarship—you are reigniting the flame for the next generation of Phoenix.

Come back. Give back. Rise again.

Get involved today.

Because at UW-Green Bay, the fire never fades—it evolves, it spreads, and it endures. Together, we are a living legacy. Together, we rise.

PHOENIX FIGHT SONG

Hail! To the Fighting Phoenix
Rise up and light the flame!
Green Bay is the home of Champions
We're gonna' win this game!
Hail! To the Fighting Phoenix
We're rising up to say
Fight! Fight! Fight! For a win tonight
The Champions from old Green Bay!

Composed by Prof. Emeritus Lovell Ives

Arranged by Wayne Bailey

ALMA MATER

Let us rise above these waters,
Men and women of Green Bay.
Rise in knowledge,
Rise in wisdom,
Rise in friendship sealed today.
As the Phoenix rose from flame,
Let us rise and still proclaim,
That we pledge our Alma Mater,
And the memories of her name.

Composed by Prof. Emeritus Lovell Ives

Lyrics by former Prof. Peter Stambler
